

Dear audience

How to curb ethnic and minority violence affected by wars and crises!

With respect

I am Hossein Novin Rangraz from Ardebil in Iran.

The subject of my talk here is "the impact of widespread diversity and conflict of ethnicities and religions on social networks under the name of Iran to combat violence against minorities". Recently a bloody war took place between our two neighbours, the Republic of Azerbaijan and the Republic of Armenia, over the Qarbaq region. the war between two different identities, the Azeri, the Shi'a Muslim, and the Armenian, increased sensitivities in this regard. a significant number of both Azeris and Armenians live in Iran, inevitably part of the verbal and written conflict on social networks also spread among Iranian Azeri and Armenian groups. Fortunately, with the wisdom of the Supreme Leader and the Government of the Islamic Republic, Iran has taken an active neutral role from the very beginning. on the other hand, proper management of media space and social networks through coordination with the Armenian and Azeri elites reduced the level of tensions and crisis issues inside. policy of leaders and politicians has a significant role in reducing the literature of violence against minorities in social medias.
