

Association for the Protection of Women's and Children's Rights in Iran

The participation of the young people is multidimensional. The linguistic participation is a good way for the young people of the minorities. In Article 15 of Iranian Constitution, the linguistic participation of all ethnic languages is recognized. The government has done something. For example, we have at one university, the Kurdish language and literature at university or just the province of Kurdistan, we have 64 media outlets. Press, TV and radio stations.

But this is not enough. The government should do more. On the other hand, we ask the Kurdish armed groups to stop conflicts and violence and to let way open their way for cultural activities. Because what we need is cultural and economic development, not wars and conflicts. Thanks, everybody.
